Thorlakson Feedyards Inc. is a 20,000 head feedlot that has been running for over 30 years, and for 25 years has been composting its by-product which is the manure from cattle. In 1997, Thorlakson Feedyards Inc. created Nature's Call which is a composting and packaging facility that creates and bags various garden products of several brand names. Currently, we bag and sell approximately 3 million bags of several products. If the manure is not used for packaged goods, it can also be spread across the 8,000 acres that we currently farm. As we are an agricultural farm, we currently are grandfathered under the Natural Resource Conservation Board's (NRCB) Agricultural Operation Practices Act. However, we are applying to receive less than 20,000 tonnes of vegetable waste that would be composted at our current facility. This vegetable waste will be composted on the same clay base that we currently compost on, where there is a landscaped runoff system already in place to capture the runoff water in a lagoon. As well as, all vegetable waste that is to be brought in will be weighed and recorded before it is placed on the composting pad. The current site has been inspected by Envirowest Engineering Inc., which could be contacted through Shawna Low at (403)783-8229.

I acknowledge that I have reviewed a copy of the Code of Practice for Compost Facilities, and that I am bound by the provisions of the Code and any subsequent amendments to it.
